Man pleads guilty to assault charges

William Dunn Gibbs of RR 1 Haliburton pleaded guilty on Monday to nine charges of indecent assault upon four girls aged six to eight. The incidents occurred between August 15 and August 25.

The evidence showed that no force or violence was involved and that the children were on friendly terms with Mr. Gibbs.

M. Gibbs, 68 years old, had been convicted of similar charges in 1972, at which time he received some professional treatment in Peterborough, but not on a regular basis.

He was represented by counsel as a reliable citizen who has been employed for ten years in the community.

Miss Gibbs, with whom the accused, her brother, has lived, testified that Mr. Gibbs has many friends in the area and is well liked.

No denial of the serious nature of the offences was made, but counsel felt that the character of Mr. Gibbs should serve to mitigate the sentence.

There is a possible five year sentence for each charge, which would equal 45 years in the penitentiary but Judge Inrig ruled that Mr. Gibbs spend sixty days in jail in addition to the month that he has served already since the first bail hearing on August 31. Following that period, Mr. Gibbs is to be on probation for three years, with the condition that he report to a probation officer, take psychiatric care, and not associate with any children under eighteen years of age except in the presence of another adult. The judge noted that this final condition if adhered to would also protect Mr. Gibbs from further accusation.

The primary concern in deciding the sentence was the method of preventing a re-occurrence of the same problem and with treatment of the condition.

Four convicted in drinking incidents

Four persons were convicted in provincial court on separate incidents involving drinking and driving.

Oran Rowbottom, of Haliburton, was found guilty of impaired driving and fined $175 and $5 costs. Rowbottom was charged May 7 when a car he was driving went off the road into a ditch and struck a culvert.

Brian Armstrong, of Haliburton, was sentenced to 14 days in jail after pleading guilty to a charge of impaired driving. He was charged on May 13.

Armstrong's sentence will be served on weekends in order to allow him to continue to work. His drivers licence was suspended and he was put on probation with the order not to consume alcoholic beverages for 30 days. It was Armstrong's second offence.

Rebecca Bellefeuille, of RR 2 Haliburton was found guilty of impaired driving and fined a total of $150 and $5 costs as the result of a charge laid on May 5 in Minden.

Lorne Snell of Bobcaygeon Road, Minden pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving and was fined $50 and $5 court costs.

Snell was found in his car with the key in the ignition, high beams on and his head and arms resting on the steering wheel. That charge reads that a person must not have the care and control of a motor vehicle if his ability to drive is impaired. He may even be charged even if he is not driving.

Wim McGee finds getting to first base a little difficult in the donkey baseball game played between the Kinsmen and Rotary Clubs in Haliburton. Wim appears to be getting on the back of this donkey but our bet is that he is in the process of falling off. Like most of the players he seemed to spend more time on his own "hind end" than on the four legged variety.

For snowmobile trail

Action committee

An action committee was formed at the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association forum held Monday to discuss the possible reopening of the Whitney snowmobile trail through Algonquin Park.

The trail, that follows the hydro line for 11 miles through the Park, is a safe dry land route that can be used for the whole season.

It was closed by the Ministry of Natural Resources Parks branch without any consultation with the people who use the route as a direct link by snowmobile from Haliburton to Whitney.

it was pointed out at the meeting.

J. A. Simpson, Parks Superintendent and District Manager of the Algonquin Park District, quoted the master plan for Algonquin Park as a reason for the Ministry's decision to close the trail to snowmobiles. The Park is intended to provide "low intensity recreational experience within the constraint of the economic life of the region." The plan, he said, was formed with the help of a public committee and one of the committee's recommendations was that snowmobiles be disallowed. In 1968 all

The money was taken from the home of Andy Sisson, 78, of West Guilford.

$2,790 of the stolen money has been recovered by the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

One injured in shooting mishap

One person was injured and another charged with causing bodily harm with the intent to wound as the result of an incident involving a knife and a rifle early Sunday morning.

Steven Rogers, 55, of Toronto was taken to Haliburton Hospital after a bullet struck his forehead.

Charged is Fred Chahley, 48, of Scarborough. Chahley and Rogers were both charged with possession of a weapon dangerous to the public peace.

The Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police report that Rogers had a knife and Chahley went into a bedroom and got a .22 calibre rifle. When the two confronted each other the rifle was discharged.

The incident took place at a cottage owned by Chahley on Little Kinnis Lake early Sunday morning. The two men are brothers.

Eight-year-old Leanne Thomas was the first to register for the Save the Arena walkathon held in Wilberforce. Leanne's mother Jean and Donna Murdock were on hand to register the walkers. Over $40,000 in repairs are needed to keep the Monmouth arena open for the entire winter.

Wilberforce arena

Walk starts campaign

An attempt to raise enough funds to make necessary repairs to the Monmouth Arena got off to a good start Saturday when 75 walkers raised an estimated $1,900.

Jean Thomas, one of the organizers of the walk, said that response was much more than expected. Mrs. Thomas said that they had estimated that the walk would raise somewhere in the neighborhood of $1,000.

The walk was organized as a project of the Wilberforce Figure Skating Club to do that organizations share in the fund raising projects for the arena.

Mrs. Thomas, president of the figure skating club, said that her executive, Beverly Agnew and Donna Murdock put in most of the work in organizing the walkathon.

The walk started at the fire hall in Wilberforce, travelled down Fleming Road to Esson Line, out to Highway 121 back to Tory Hill and then returned to Wilberforce.

Mrs. Thomas said that the figure skating club decided about two weeks ago to have the walk, and had it organized in time for the event.

She said that the money raised from the walk will go a long way to making the repairs to the arena.

Repairs to the arena could cost more than $40,000 and some estimates have it as high as $60,000 to make the building comply with the 1971 building code.

"Provincial grants through the Community Recreation Centres Act and Wintario funds will provide 75 per cent of the total cost of the repairs while the remaining 25 per cent will be raised through public subscription. As a result municipal tax rates will not be affected," Monmouth deputy reeve, Keith Tallman said last week.

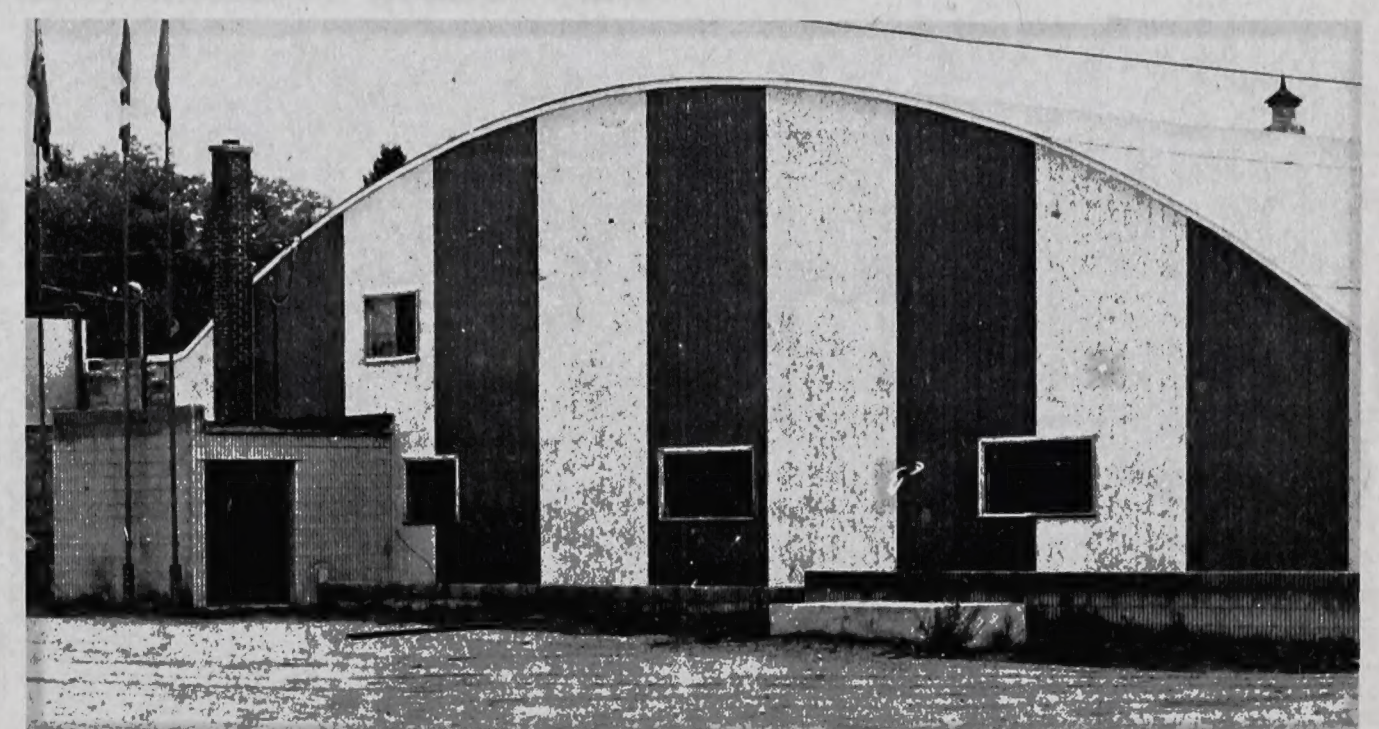

The walkathon was the first step in the fund raising campaign which will reach a peak with the Save the Arena Autumnfest, Oct. 9 and 10 which will feature helicopter rides, afternoon gardens with live entertainment and a smorgasborg breakfast. There will also be a monster bake sale and many other attractions. Donations will also be appreciated addressed to the Bank of Nova Scotia and marked Save Our Arena Fund.

The Monmouth Arena needs $40,000 in repairs if it is to open for the entire winter. Citizens of Monmouth are now attempting to raise some of the money needed for the repairs. Saturday a walkathon was held and on Oct. 9 and 10 an Autumnfest is planned. MPP John Eakins says that there is some provincial government money available to help with the repairs.

Haliburton Highlights

Work still continues on the Drag River Bridge in the village and they are getting ready to pave it and put in curbs and sidewalks. It should be a beautiful job when it is completed.

It won't be too much longer before ice is in at the Haliburton Arena and the hockey season will be getting underway. Get your boys ready now.

The citizens of Haliburton are really upset at the recent amount of break-ins at local homes. Some that they have been talking with told us that they are getting fed up with this nonsense. They want to see a little action. How can we get action until we get our own police detachment.

It is well known that one of the main causes of automobile accidents is: Speed Too Fast For Conditions. The Ontario Safety League points out that the condition of the driver is one of the most important factors that should govern the speed at which the car is driven. Fatigue, alcohol, anger, depression, sickness, pre-occupation—all bring extra danger to a driver unless he reduces speed to compensate.

The gigantic Wall to Wall Sale is continuing at Stedmans at Haliburton and the crowds have been very large with people getting in on the many bargains.

It's Wilberforce Save our Arena Autumnfest coming up on Saturday and Sunday, October 9 and 10, 1976. They have two full days of activities planned with plenty of excitement for one and all.

Increase your value to your employer by enrolling in the St. John Ambulance First Aid Instructor Course. This course will better equip you to communicate and develop your leadership qualities.

The new 1977 model cars are coming out so check on your local Haliburton County dealers for some real good buys.

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School football team has been preparing for the up and coming football season. Team coaches feel that although the team does not have the talent it has had in previous years it will make up for it with enthusiasm.

While still on the subject of the local High School football team we hope that you clipped out the football schedule that we had in last weeks paper.

A public meeting will be held at the Stanhope Municipal Fire Hall on Saturday, October 9th, 1976 between the hours of 10 a.m. and 12 o'clock noon, to discuss the proposed Restricted Area By-Law for the Township of Stanhope.

This and that

Lately, I've been using honey more frequently in many dishes where I used to use sugar. Perhaps I can persuade you to try doing the same. I have a brother-in-law who keeps bees. He has taught me to more appreciate the bee, its honey and other benefits; and I would like to share some of my new found knowledge with you here.

By definition, honey is the nectar obtained from flowers, by the worker bee, which, after modification in her stomach, is stored in the comb for the nourishment of the brood. Many plants contain sugar in their saps. When the secretion of sap takes place and the water is evaporated, a sweet residue remains which is gathered by the bee.

Honey may be white through yellow and brown through black. These colour variations are owed to the particular sources of nectar from which bees procure their honey eg. clover produces light honey while buckwheat produces very dark honey. These honeys also have different flavours and aromas. Honey consists of a water solution of three natural sugars; dextrose (grape sugar), levulose (fruit sugar), and sucrose (cane sugar) and other constituents such as pollen etc.

It has the ability to absorb and retain moisture so it is very suitable for baking. All goods that are baked with honey will remain soft and moist longer than those baked with brown or granulated sugar. If one cup of sugar is required in a recipe, use a ½ cup of honey instead. Some cooks omit ½ cup of fluid accordingly as the honey is a fluid - but of course that's up to you. It is better to warm honey if you are going to use it for cooking, as it becomes thinner when heated and blends more easily.

I have done several experiments with honey in my baking, including some strawberry squares and an excellent fig loaf. Honey contains natural yeasts and bread yeasts grow in it as quite as well as in the sugar solution. They were just as sweet as if I had used double the amount of white sugar but of course they were much better for us.

Athletes often use honey because of its quality of supplying energy quickly. It is a natural food; is easily digested, and thus goes quickly into the blood stream.

There are a few interesting myths pertaining to honey. One is that honey-must be purified before it can be eaten. This is not true as honey prohibits the growth of bacteria. Another story I've heard is that if you suffer from hayfever, you should eat the honey of the area you live in. I imagine that this practice is supposed to immunize you to the effects of the pollens near your home because honeys do contain pollen. Some folks swear it works - for them anyway!

Another thing I've found completely by accident while making banana egg nogs: I blend milk, banana, egg and honey. If I don't add the honey the banana will go brown and turn the egg nog a dark colour. I am not sure why this happens and a lot of experts don't seem to agree. In the books I've read concerning honey, there appear to be a lot of unknowns. It seems as if mother nature does not want to give up all her secrets.

The best book I have read on honey is ABC and XYZ of BEE Culture by A.I. Root. I have heard this book described as being the bible of the honey world.

I hope you've enjoyed these few excerpts on honey. If you happen to have favourite recipes or home making hints you would like to share, I would be pleased to hear from you.

I wish you all, Happy Haliburton Homing.
P.S: This is the best and least expensive season to buy honey. To make a Honey Butter that is just great on toast blend ¼ cup honey with ½ cup of butter - it keeps for three weeks in the refrigerator.

The joys of summer

Bill Smiley

End of summer notes. Can't think of one, single, useful constructive thing I did during the past summer. Which is as it should be.

I did threaten, once or twice, to paint the back stoop and the picnic table and chairs. But on the days when I was ready to put the stain on the picnic equipment it rained, thank goodness. And I never did figure out how to paint the stoop. The cat sleeps there all day. I was either going to have a cat with green feet, or I'd have to tie him to the lilac tree until the paint dried, which I thought was a bit inhuman.

One of the big events of the summer was having an oak tree taken down. It was about 70 feet high and two feet thick at the base. It was quite a thrill to watch the tree-slayers, two of them, scrambling away up into the blue of a summer evening, slinging ropes around in all sorts of mysterious ways, shouting incomprehensible directions to each other, like a couple of sailors reefing the foresail around Cape Horn, and lowering the might oak in sections.

I now have four woodpiles in my back yard, about six cords of firewood, on which all sorts of people are casting all envious eye. Forget it, friends. It costs me $300 to have that oak down, and I'm going to enjoy it, if I have to keep the fireplace burning day and night all winter.

That was a bad week. Just after the oak came down, the automatic washer in the basement blew its guts. The dryer was shot too, so this was another $700. An exciting installation. The washer and dryer won't go down our cellar stairs. The boys had to rip out the stairs and lower the machinery. But they labored with great good nature and ingenuity. We didn't lose a single man. Nor even a married one. It could never happen if you brought the out-fit from one of the big, out-of-town firms. They'd just sneer if you said: "The stairs have to come out."

That was a $1,000 week of pure loss. But it was some what redeemed the following week when I went to Halifax and won an award which included a handsome cheque for $500. It made me think God was back in His heaven, after being out to lunch for a whole week.

That Halifax is quite a place. It looks like a city in Germany, circa 1950, that has been badly bombed, and is rebuilding. Beautiful new buildings rising right next to deadly, three-storey slums, with winos hangings out the windows.

Last time I was there was in the spring of 1942, on my way overseas, and Halifax was real crud then. Cold, wet, dismal, blackout, poor food. England looked like paradise after wartime Halifax. Now it's a swinging lively city.

Local Guides travelling to Cape Breton

Sharon Williams and Kelly Roberts, two Haliburton Guides will be part of an eight girl patrol representing the Woodland Division at an international Girl Guide Camp to be held in Cape Breton next year.

Another local girl, Kim Ward was chosen as an alternate and will be able to attend if any of the eight girls cannot.

A release from the Girl Guides states, "This will be an exciting time for the girls, they will be meeting Guides from all over the world and exchanging ideas and customs with them."

During the past year Guides from the Division have been attending different camps, bettering their camping skills and gaining new knowledge in preparation for those who are to attend the Camp next July.

The three local girls are from First Haliburton Company.

OPP investigating a number of breakins

Members of the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police have been busy over the past few days investigating a number of breakins, including the theft of two rifles and a truck from the home of Donald Frank Holden, of RR 2 Minden. The police report that the thief of thieves entered through a rear door and took the rifles from a hallway. The keys to the truck were taken from inside the house as well.

The total value of the property has been estimated at $3,441 and there was $5 damage to the house.

The police are investigating the theft of an outboard motor, chainsaw and gas tank with a total value of $1,400 which was taken from a cottage owned by John Eric Veitch, 55, of the Wilberforce area.

Entry to the cottage was gained through a basement door. There was $10 damage to the building. The theft took place on Sept. 20.

A breakin at a cottage owned by James Bradford Case of Ohio netted a thief or thieves $1,033 worth of goods. Stolen from the cottage were a canoe, tools, radio and camping equipment.

The cottage is located on Elephant Lake. The incident took place between Aug. 2 and Sept. 21.

Renewal for larger communities

A downtown renewal plan of the Ministry of Housing, designed to help smaller and medium sized communities is likely for municipalities larger than Dysart et al.

Reeve Murray Fearrey told The Echo that the program has been discussed by the council but he feels that it is for communities larger than Dysart.

Ontario's program to help smaller and medium-sized communities revitalize their downtowns was outlined by Housing Minister John Rhodes to members of the Provincial/Municipal Liaison Committee meeting in Toronto.

As described by Rhodes, the main objectives of the Ontario Downtown Revitalization Program are:

- To revitalize core areas in smaller and medium-sized Ontario municipalities with a maximum population of 125,000;
- To stabilize or improve the property and business tax base within these downtown areas;

- To make more effective use of existing downtown municipal infrastructure;
- To re-establish a viable role for downtown areas;

- To sustain the social, cultural and economic facilities and opportunities within downtown areas;
- To finance specific projects which in turn will stimulate implementation of the remainder of the municipality's official plan. The province will provide assistance in the form of partially recoverable loans of the approved cost of a downtown revitalization project. Rhodes said.

"Such a project would be expected to generate additional revenue to the municipality in the form of rents and/or taxes. In addition, the project must act as a seeding element or a spur to other downtown improvements," he said.

Echo Editorials

Cottagers' vote will affect elections

An editorial in last week's Toronto Star regarding municipal elections and the cottagers' vote made a point that I think deserves some careful scrutiny by not only those who intend to declare themselves candidates in the forthcoming elections but by those of us who will put them in office.

The Star made reference to a proposal to allow cottagers to vote by mail in the Parry Sound district as an experiment and if successful the provincial government would, we suppose, introduce voting by mail throughout the province.

The Star went on to say that cottagers in many instances represent a majority in many municipalities and that with the difficulties in transportation and distance their points of view are often not represented on the municipal council level. Voting by mail, The Star says, could drastically change past voting patterns.

Although it is true that part time residents should have a voice in municipal policies it should also be of grave concern that year round residents who have more at stake in their communities are fairly represented.

It seems to us that under these circumstances a different system, from the present one is required to give what would be an equitable representation to ratepayers of different resident status.

We have no formula to offer at this time but we do suggest that until a fair one is developed there should be no experimentation.

Haliburton needs more police protection

The village of Haliburton is in need of more police protection. This isn't a new story its an old one. We have brought this question up in many editorials in the past and we are at it again.

The citizens and the council of the Municipality of Dysart et al with its Reeve Murray Fearrey asked Cpl Sneddon of the Minden OPP at a recent council meeting if there was any possible way that we could assist in getting a police patrol for the village and municipality. This was a good question.

At one time we had two OPP officers stationed in Haliburton and at that time we had far fewer break ins than we are having now.

Just recently house after house in the village of Haliburton was broken into and money and many valuable articles stolen.

The would be thieves have a perfect set up here with a private invasion to break into homes and business establishments as there are no officers on duty after 3 a.m. Everyone in time gets to know this and they know that after this hour the coast is clear.

At a recent Dysart Council meeting Cpl Sneddon of the Ontario Provincial Police and Reeve Murray Fearrey agreed that the OPP Minden detachment is in need of more men. This could be true but the real answer is that the village of Haliburton should have its own police detachment and then possibly we will get some action on matters that need immediate attention.

Youngsters are the most important players

The 1976-77 hockey season will soon be underway here in Haliburton County. Junior, Juvenile and possibly an intermediate team will be iced here.

Our main concern should be the young boys who play in the Haliburton County Minor Hockey Association. They are the boys who will be the future stars of tomorrow.

In an effort to have a minor hockey association it takes the work of a great many people. It takes coaches, referees, linesmen, trainers etc. These are the hard working men who must take the time out to take care of these boys and make sure that they get the proper hockey training. If it wasn't for these men we wouldn't have any minor hockey at all. It seems to us that its the same men who year after year take the time out to take an interest in these boys.

One thing that we musn't forget and that is the parents who should be at the games with their boys showing them that they take an interest in them and want to see that they become better citizens. There is an old saying that if you keep a boy on ice then you will keep him out of hot water.

A local man who takes a great interest in minor hockey told us one time that when they went back over the records they found that boys that played in the minor hockey system were in less trouble in future years than those who did not play hockey. This is a fact.

We would like to believe that this upcoming hockey season is going to be one of the best and we look forward to more interest being taken by the parents and the general public when it comes to attending the games.

As others see it

Ontario schools are graduating countless individuals devoid of social awareness according to the youth wing of the provincial Progressive Conservative party.

They urge schools to get back to basics, and suggest that the quality of teaching be improved; the teaching profession be regulated, and that regular exams and testing be re-introduced.

Testing is absolutely necessary, the YPC brief emphasizes, and points out that it is ludicrous to reject testing on the grounds that it makes students competitive, since most young people anticipate that life itself will be a competitive experience.

The YPCA boasts a membership of more than 5000, and a survey among the 14-12 year old members shows 85 percent believe Ontario students are not proficient in English, grammar and composition; cannot write essays and lack abilities in basic mathematics.

They are also extremely concerned about the quality of teaching and noted that there is an abundance of teachers and that it is now possible to weed out those not suited for the job.

The brief also stated that compulsory physical education courses are needed because Canadian youth lacks real commitment to physical fitness and that the Canadian society is essentially a society of spectators.

The youth association proposes that high schools require students to study English, a second language, mathematics, physical education, Canadian studies and current events.

The brief also criticizes the present guidance systems and suggests that only 30 percent of YPC members felt high school guidance counsellors are reliable guides to higher education.

It is indeed encouraging to realize that youth itself understands the fallacy of todays eroding educational policies forced on the provincial student body by academic day-dreamers.

People who spend their entire careers between book covers and in the temples of theory have only vague ideas about the disciplines needed in daily competitive life of survival.

Industry and commerce in the province can testify to the fact that few high school or college graduates understand or know the basic requirements for a successful career in any field.

It is hoped that the YPCA's parent body pay heed to the urgent call for return to basics in Ontario education.

And in the parent body is of course none other than Bill Davis and his cabinet.

Residents of Monmouth have their work cut for them if they want to save the arena. One would wonder in a small community how such a task could be completed when estimates of the cost could get as high as or higher than $40,000.

But Monmouth seems to be different, there is a real community spirit in that section of Haliburton, a community spirit that should be an example for everyone.

Wilberforce and the area around it is not big in population but this is made up in determination and hard work of the residents.

One does not have to look far to see the results of this community spirit, only as far as such things and the community centre and the annual Country Good Times.

The community centre would be the pride and joy of many larger communities as would putting on as well attended extravaganza as the Country Good Times.

There is much speculation about what will happen to the arena, and many people are sceptical about the possibilities of the repairs being made. I for one have no doubt that the hard working, spirited people of Monmouth will raise the money and keep the doors of the arena open and they will raise the money in such a way that everyone, within the municipality and outside of the municipality will have a good time.

Monmouth, with its Autumnfest, Oct. 9 and 10 will be giving everyone in the area an opportunity to have a good time along with have the opportunity to help a hard working progressive community keep a very big part of its identity.

It is election time, or at least close to election time for our municipal officials, yet we have heard of no candidates stepping forward and attempting unseat and incumbents.

Hopefully there are some people planning to run for the municipal council and school board, not because the present officials are not doing a good job, but just to make an election what it should be, a chance for people to make a choice as to who should govern the area.

It is good to see the two service clubs working together to see that the project is successful. The Rotarians did an excellent job on Festacolor along with help from the Kinsmen.

Participation of this type is what is needed for most projects in the area and as long as it is their many events will be successful.

The Minden detachment of the Ontario

Provincial Police is doing the best job possible for all of the citizens of the area, but sometimes a little more is needed.

A number of cases have been related to us about the length of time it take the OPP to get to Haliburton in the event of a crime. I understand the problems they have, a large territory to cover, a need for more officers and most of all the distance from Minden to Haliburton.

Now is the time that the distance problem should be solved, the Haliburton area seems to have become a target of sorts for some criminals and one is lead to suspect that one of the reasons is that the police are stationed 15 miles away and need time to get to the village.

I understand the financial problems the Ontario government is experiencing and just how expensive an operation it would be to enlarge the Minden detachment or put a new detachment in Haliburton but I am also under the opinion that people, the taxpayers, deserve the best protection possible.

This is no reflection on the members of the Minden detachment, as I pointed out before, they are doing the best job possible under the circumstances.

These problems have been pointed out to Dysart council and perhaps the gears have started moving to solve them for the people of Haliburton.

Pipes and drums featured at annual service

Legion pipe and drum bands from the Royal Canadian Legion Zone F5 jammed into the Monmouth Arena Sunday for a giant drumhead service.

The annual Zone F5 event started at 1 p.m. with a parade from the Canadian Legion Branch 624 Wilberforce to the cenotaph for the laying of the wreath by John Maw, past district commander.

The Last Post Silence of Remembrance Reveille was played followed by the invocation read by Padre Russ Naylor of the Oshawa Naval Club.

The parade then left the cenotaph and moved to the arena where zone chairman Wally Smith introduced zone commander Jack Adams who officially opened the ceremonies.

The closing ceremonies were handled by deputy zone commander of F5 North, Tommy Foster.

Veterans march in the parade that started the Drumhead service of the Royal Canadian Legion, Zone F5 held in Wilberforce on Sunday afternoon. The parade was complete down to two armed forces service jet flying overhead at the beginning.

By Jim Badgley

One wonders just who the jackasses were Saturday afternoon at the park when the Rotary Club took on the Kinsmen in one of the finer played ballgames of the season.

About 200 fans marvelled at the slick fielding plays and heads up softball of the two clubs.

All joking aside though, it is a little disappointing that more people did not attend the game. If one has never seen donkey baseball, after watching Saturday, I get the feeling that one has not lived totally.

Saturday's game turned into a tie, because of one of the two teams had a run taken away to make it a tie, but much more than the score everyone had a good time.

There are a few members of the two local service clubs who must still have some aches and pains from what sometimes seems to be a bruising contest. Among the people who seemed to spend more time on the ground than on their donkeys were Wim McGee and Dave Bishop.

This pair, along with a few other players took a couple of good tumbles off their Jackasses.

Donkey baseball, since most of you missed the game, I should explain, is played on the back of donkeys. Eleven donkeys are used, nine for the fielders and four for the batting team. It is compulsory for a player to be on the back of his ass to be part of the play.

A special edition of Jackass News which is published by Jim Smith Enterprises of Fenelon Falls, describes exactly what donkey baseball is all about. "A burlesque of baseball that leaves spectator weak with laughter. Real live donkeys that always do exactly the wrong thing at the right time in spite of the frantic efforts of their luckless riders."

At times during the game most spectators were wondering who was making an ass of who on the field, with the donkeys turning and facing in the wrong direction, throwing their riders off and generally playing the game more like the Montreal Expos than the New York Yankees.

While going into the park to cover the festivities on Saturday I ran into one of the nicest guys you would ever want to meet. Dick Austin greeted me with open arms at the gate, explained how he just loved to read my column and then proceeded to tell me how nice a guy he is plus the fact that he is a member of the Kinsmen Club. He also told me to write something nice about him in the paper, and then told me what to write. Sorry Dick I just forgot what you wanted to say.

A free referees clinic for officials of the area did not turn out too well. Bill Davis tells me that there was no response from people in the village although Wilberforce area officials turned out in force.

The clinic, because of the lack of participation in Haliburton, will be moved to Wilberforce where there seems to be a little more desire on the part of the officials.

The Haliburton clinic was to be handled in three sessions, two in the classroom and one on the ice but when the first session had little or no local response I don't blame the organizers for moving it to a place where the interest is higher.

Perhaps the local house league referees are so good that they don't need any advice at all. I will just wait until the season gets underway to see how true this is.

Referees' clinic cancelled from lack of response

Due to a lack of response referees clinic originally scheduled for three sessions at the arena has been cancelled after one outing.

Bill Davis, a former OMHA and OHA official, who was conducting the clinic, said that the turnout was not encouraging at the first session held last Thursday.

He noted that there were a number of interested people from the Wilberforce area in attendance and the last two sessions will be moved to that arena.

The second session of the Haliburton clinic, which was designed to help house league officials was to be held this Thursday night. The clinic is free to anyone interested and times and dates for the remaining sessions in Wilberforce will be announced. Mr. Davis noted.

Ev Stata had a 639; Ali Hogg, 637; and Marie Jenkins, 619.

Helen Knapp, Sandy Bar and Fred Brittain were welcomed to the league.

Other high scorers were Nancy Stinson 263 with 31 handicap, Alma Stewart 245 with 13 handicap and Betty Wise 240 with 53 handicap.

Flyers are at the top of the league with seven points. Sooners and Floozies tied with five are second and Holly Hawks and Fonjies are fourth with two points each. The Jets failed to pick up a point on the first day of the season.

Two more races in Bulova series

With only two races left in the Bulova Championship for Formula 100s, it is now assured that a Canadian built car will win the championship.

Alec Purdy of Hanover and John Scratch of Goderich, both driving Canadian-made Ferrets, lead the series over third place Doug Titus of Willowdale. Purdy has 78 points followed by Scratch with 52 and Titus has 37, making it impossible for Titus to catch Purdy. Drivers are awarded 20 points for a win.

The next round in this competitive series is scheduled during the Labatt's 50 Grand Prix weekend, October 1, 2 and 3 at Mosport Park, while the final round is October 9.

In the 2.5 sedan division, Paul Lambke of Cambridge continues to lead with 86 points while Werner Von Engelbrechten of Scarborough, is second with 77 points.

Water levels

With the continued wet weather this week, Kawartha levels are remaining high despite decreased inflows from the Reservoirs and increased outflows down the Otonabee River.

Reservoir storage on Sept. 20 stood at 54 percent of maximum and on Tuesday, Sept. 21, flows from the Gull and Burnt Reservoirs were reduced to conserve water for use until after Thanksgiving weekend. The large uncontrolled area on the Irondale River Branch continued to supply a fairly large flow.

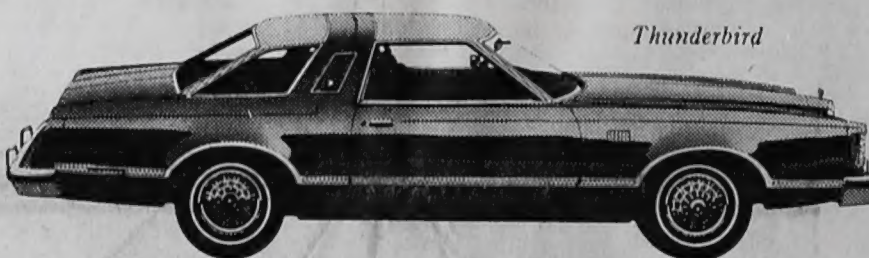

Rainfalls added to the levels of the Kawarthas so that outflows have had to be increased considerably.

Drawdown is proceeding of Otter (Esson) Lake for bridge installation by the County Roads Department and flows on the Gelert Branch of the Burnt River have been restored to former levels following inspection of the Township Road Bridge.

Local man charged with store break in

One person has been charged in connection with a break-in at Easton's Red and White store in Haliburton.

Thomas Joseph Emmerson 33, of RR 2 Haliburton has been charged with break, enter and theft in connection with the theft of $350 worth of meat and cigarettes from the store.

A total of $258 worth of the goods has been recovered. The break-in took place on Sept. 23 or 24. Entry to the store was gained by breaking a rear window.

Paul Anthony Hanson, 22 and Glenn Daryl Verville, 23 both of Willowdale have been charged in connection with a break-in at a cottage owned by Victor Screen of Weston.

A total of $40 worth of goods was taken from the cottage on Sept. 22 or 23 and there was $15 damage. Both men were charged with break, enter and theft.

Members of the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police investigated both incidents.

Man found guilty on three charges

Joseph Landry, of RR 1 Norland was found guilty in provincial court Thursday, of careless driving, failure to produce evidence of insurance and driving with open liquor.

Landry pleaded guilty to the failing to produce evidence of vehicle insurance charge but not guilty to the other offences.

Constable Telford of the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police told the court that on May 1 he observed a car driven by Landry going at speeds over the limit, pass a car on a blind curve and doing a 360 degree turn when leaving Highway 35 for a side road. The constable also testified that he found a case of beer, containing three full and eight empty bottles, in the back seat of Landry's car and a partly full bottle of beer in the front of the car between the passenger seat and the console.

Landry was fined a total of $275 plus $10 court costs for the three convictions.

The incident took place on May 1.

Bernier defines lake allowances

Leo Bernier, Minister of Natural Resources for Ontario has clearly defined the 66 foot allowances around lakes for the Township of Stanhope.

In a letter from Mr. Bernier to the township offices it is stated "Allowances for roads located in a municipality are vested in the municipal corporation. The municipal council has authority to pass bylaws stopping up allowances for roads and to sell or lease those that it has stopped up."

He points out though that if the allowance for road leads to a body of water, or is along the shore of a body of water, the bylaw to stop does not take effect until approved by the Ministry of Treasury Economics and Intergovernmental Affairs. "This approval is not granted until the comments of various government agencies, including this Ministry, are secured," he said.

Mr. Bernier says that generally the policy of the Ministry of Natural Resources is to recommend retention in public ownership all shore road allowances. "Where no original road allowance exists on the shores of lakes and rivers, this ministry reserves land between the high water mark and lots being disposed of to protect the public interests in the waterway. This policy recognizes the increased public demands for use of lakes and rivers for recreation," Mr. Bernier states.

He adds that the policy ensures access to the shores for everyone, places the ownership of beaches in the Crown and reduces the possibility of water pollution. "I trust the information will be of some assistance to you in your discussion with the cottage owners in your township," Mr. Bernier adds.

St. George's scene of pretty June wedding

St. George's Anglican Church, Haliburton, was the setting of a very pretty wedding on Saturday, June 19th, when Linda Marianne Coneybeare, daughter of Rosamond and Lloyd Coneybeare of Haliburton, and Bruce James Cuthbertson, son of Doreen and Gordon Cuthbertson of Toronto, were united in marriage.

The bride, presented by her mother and father, wore a wedding dress of ivory crepe satin and lace. She wore on her head a Juliet cap of ivory lace and an ivory carried a bouquet of yellow roses and blue cornflowers. Her attendants, who preceded her up the aisle to the music of trumpet tone by Percell, were Susan Laister of Peterborough, the matron of honour, and Beverly Coneybeare, of Toronto and Louise Roantree of Orangeville, the bridesmaids. The Matron of honour wore a peach and ivory jersey gown and ivory flowered cotton and matching Juliet caps. All carried bouquets of yellow and white daisies.

The bride's mother wore a long gown of apple green chiffon and the Groom's mother chose a floor length dress of wedgewood blue satin. Both wore rose corsages. The grandmothers were in blue and white corsages.

The wedding ceremony, written by the bride and groom, contained selections by Kahlil Gibran and St. Paul. The service was conducted by the Rev. Trevor Denny, and the music which included selections by Beethoven, Mozart and John Denver, was played by Bill Gliddon.

The Groom's best man was Mr. John Wright, of Toronto. The Ushers were Ralph Cuthbertson, brother of the groom, and John Coneybeare brother of the bride. The reception was held at Wig A Mog Inn, on Lake Kashagawigamog where Linda and Bruce, their parents and attendants, received their relatives and friends. Following the reception, a party was held at the Coneybeare cottage of Kashaga Drive where friends and neighbours gathered to greet the bride and groom.

For a wedding trip to France, the bride chose a sleeveless ivory dress trimmed with brown, and a corsage of yellow daisies and roses. On their return, the couple will reside in Toronto, where Bruce is teaching for the East York Board of Education and Linda is employed by British Airways at Toronto International Airport.

Guests at the wedding were from Toronto, Peterborough, Orangeville, Victoria B.C., Haliburton, Hall's Lake, Thornhill and Brighouse, Yorkshire England.

Apology offered for oversight

Stanhope Township council has extended sincere apologies to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schram for "a serious oversight which occurred during the opening ceremonies of the Welch Memorial Library."

In a letter from G.C. Bain, clerk of the township of Reg. Hickman, of Toronto, it is stated, "We regret that on receipt of the donation of a picture of the library by Mrs. Jane MacGill, no mention was made that this donation was arranged by the Hickman-Schram Memorial Fund who also provided the frame."

The letter went on to say, "This beautiful picture is certainly a great asset to the library and the Hickman-Schram Memorial Fund and Mrs. MacGill are to be congratulated for this very kind donation."

"You can appreciate the council was under some pressure during these ceremonies and we ask for your forgiveness of this omission," the letter states.

Copies of the letter were sent to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schram, Mrs. MacGill and Mrs. Iris Adamson.

Remember... Canadian Postal Rates Have Changed.

On September 1, 1976, major postal rate changes came into effect. But, when you consider all the facts, we think you'll agree that the new rates are still a first-class bargain.

For one thing, these rates have not been increased in over four years. For another, current postal rates in most Western countries exceed Canada's new postal rates.

Anyone using the Canadian postal service will find many changes in rates.

Letters or postcards up to 1 oz., for delivery in Canada, change from 8¢ to 10¢ as of September 1, 1976, and to 12¢ as of March 1, 1977.

Greeting cards up to 2 oz., for delivery in Canada, change from 6¢ to 8¢ as of September 1, 1976, and to 10¢ as of March 1, 1977. All greeting cards should be sealed.

Rates for special services such as Registered Mail, C.O.D. and Special Delivery, Postal Insurance and Money Orders have also changed.

Major adjustments have been made in parcel rates to create a more equitable rate structure by relating the rates more closely to the distance travelled and the weight of the parcel.

In some cases, parcel rates have been reduced.

First class parcels (over 1 lb. and up to 66 lbs.) receive our best service.

More than ever, "Parcel Post" is the low-cost way to reach any address in Canada.

The new Canadian Postal Rates deserve your attention. When you post both letters and parcels, check with your Postmaster and be sure of the proper rates.

Correct postage plus the Postal Code will give you better service.

From Haliburton

Canada's oldest man?

from the Napanee Beaver

Dave Trumble, by his own report the "oldest man in Canada", began his long and fascinating life in Haliburton more than 108 years ago. Approaching his one hundred and ninth birthday, Mr. Trumble now lives in Northbrook, but was born in 1867 in the village of Haliburton on December 15. "I was there," he said, "but I didn't have pen and ink."

Indeed, Dave Trumble had done just about everything in his 108-plus years except "a pen and ink job" and he couldn't do that kind of work because "I never went to school a day in my life and I never learned to read or write."

He knows the shanty life of lumber camps from his boyhood days at 50 cents a day plus board. He has bossed lumber camps, been a prospector, gold mine, policeman, tourist guide and farmer in that order. For a time in the 1930's he was a policeman in Picton. He worked for Jules Timmins, the prospector and mining promoter who founded Timmins and he spent many years with The Sawyer-Stoll Lumber Co.

He has lead a remarkable life, not just a long one.

He has had his back broken twice in lumbering accidents when he failed to avoid falling trees. He spent more than two years in hospital recovering from one back injury and has also recovered from another accident in the woods which fractured his skull.

He has been married four times, and had 19 children, including twins who were born when he was 75. All but four of his children are dead and he believes "I'm going to outlive them all." His fourth wife has been a bed patient at Hillcrest Nursing Home in Napanee for three years.

He has also outlived all of his family of 13, except for a sister, now 79 and living in California. Both Dave Trumble's parents were French and he points out that the French origin of his name is Tremblay. He lives with a son Elwood and admits to having 100 grandchildren but adds that he has lost count.

Everything that has happened since Confederation, the year he was born, has happened in Dave Trumble's lifetime and he has voted for longer that he can remember. But, he does recall voting when Sir John A. Macdonald was Prime Minister.

As to the most interesting thing that ever happened to him, he relates a story about finding himself alone in the woods as a boy of eight in Haliburton. It was getting dark, there was snow on the ground and he realized he would probably freeze to death unless he kept back tracking through the snow. Then, at his feet, he saw a root with no frost around it. He started digging a hole in soft earth and crawled into an opening. "When I woke up, I was sleeping with three bears. They were hibernating. I got out of there quick. It was quite an incident. Something that doesn't happen every day."

About the only concession he has made to old age (the term hardly seems appropriate in his case) are that he uses a curved cane and has given up hunting and driving a car when he did until he was 102. After driving more than 40 years without an accident, he found himself involved in "a miscue on the road," he gestures with his cane toward No. 41 Highway. "The police came along and asked for my licence. I said 'I've got one.' He said 'are you 102?' I said 'Yes' and the policeman said take that car off the road." "Incidentally, he smoked until he was 102. He gave it up for six years and started again this spring. 'I don't smoke much,' he remarked as he flicked out a cigarette butt and only a bit of brandy for the sake of my stomach."

As he looks back over more than a century of life, Dave Trumble is thankful for the life he has had, "I still have good health and I have my memory. The past few years, ill health and operations pulled me down. I'm still alive and it's a God send. It isn't anything I've ever done.

Although he doesn't go to church and hasn't since he went to Sunday School as a boy, he does have a keen awareness of religion and believes he has "something to do before I die. But I don't know what it is."

Notwithstanding what he has yet to do, what he has done will be published soon in a book on his life called "When I Was Young." When he was young, it is sure, it was a very different world and one that will make a very interesting book.

Anyone interested in knowing what life was like in the northern part of the country before the turn of the century can look him up. He is in the phone book, he likes to visit and he has lots to tell.

From the Chamber

Well the weather continues to be, to say the least un-co-operative. After a summer which saw rain virtually every weekend the problems extend into fall. The trees seem to be entirely confused by it all and while some are showing all their profusion, others are as green as they were a month ago. Haliburton's Festa Colour Week-end was anything but colourful with not only a lack of colour in the leaves, but dull wet weather to boot. The Haliburton Rotary and Kinsmen worked hard to make up for it, but of course they can't control the weather.

The Phone Book the Chamber has been working on for a major part of the summer is now a reality. We re now a reality. We are

The Phone Book the Chamber has been working on for a major part of the summer is now a reality. We are presently distributing it for sale in local stores and at this time you may pick up a copy at Mike's Milk in Haliburton or Minden Mae's Book Store in Minden, Cauldron's Pharmacy in Haliburton, Barr's Store in Gooderham, and Ev's Variety (formerly Wentworth's Mini Mart) at the Allsaw bridge. This week we will be distributing the book to other handy locations, and we will list them in next week's column. Not only are these books very handy for everyone, but by purchasing one you will be helping to support the Chamber of Commerce.

Speaking of supporting the Chamber we are now in the final week of selling the Community Birthday Calendar. We have the advertising, we have the community events now we need the calendar sales to close the gap. For only $2.50 you can have a 1977 calendar with your anniversary & birthdays of your immediate family listed alongside your friends and neighbours. It's fun and it's neighbourly. The Calendar will also list all the social functions for the upcoming year that we have been able to gather together. There is a coupon right here in this newspaper - fill it out now and sent it in today with your cheque for $2.50 plus 75 cents for extra copies. The calendar must be completed this week to be prepared for January 1st.

Many people have called to ask who the Chamber has selected as "Highlander of the Year". The board has made their decision but it must remain a secret until the annual Dinner Meeting on October 6th. Why don't you come on our and meet the honoured citizen first hand. It could even be you!

Ron Barr advises us that the Haliburton County Advisory Board of the C.N.I.B. are about to start their annual appeal for funds. Ron tells us that just as they start their canvas each year an organization called the Christian Brail Record Benevolent Organization, from Lincoln, Newbraska starts banging on doors as well. If this organization is doing anything charitable, it is not being done in our country, so we do urge everyone to ask for proper identification and be assured that only local representatives from the C.N.I.B. collect on their behalf. They will be wearing an identifying badge and we do hope you receive them generously.

See You All at the Annual Dinner Meeting!

Report from Queen's Park

by MPP John Eakins

For many years, the people of Ontario have been fortunate enough to have plentiful supplies of hydro power, fuel oil and gasoline, and natural gas, at fairly reasonable prices. Recently, however, we have come to realize that this situation is changing. I would like to remind you of a few of the developments over the past three years.

In September 1973 the price of oil in Canada was about $3.80 a barrel, and the OPEC countries quadrupled the world price. At the Federal-Provincial Energy Conference in March 1974 the price of crude oil was increased 71 per cent from $3.80 to $6.50 a barrel. On July 1st, 1975, the domestic Canadian price for crude oil increased a further 23 per cent to $8.00, and Ottawa imposed a 45 day price freeze to give oil refiners time to work their inventories of lower-cost crude through the marketing systems, preventing inventory profits. The Ontario Government, during an election period, extended the freeze 88 days and then 134 days.

A Royal Commission on Petroleum Products Pricing was established and Commissioner Claude Isbister was appointed to study the relationship between price increases and the interests of the Ontario public.

On April 7th this year, Provincial Energy Minister Dennis Timbrell called for a so-called blended price for oil, which would average out the cost of new oil (which would rise to world prices), the cost of "old" oil (held at $8 a barrel) and the cost of imported oil.

Setting the stage for the annual Federal-Provincial debate on energy (oil and gas) prices, the federal government on April 27th released a long awaited energy policy paper. The major items of this paper were as follows. Oil and gas prices must rise to reach world prices in order to stimulate exploration; Canada must work toward self-reliance defined as reducing dependence on foreign sources. This is a change from the 1973 policy of working toward self-sufficiency. A new geological survey has drastically cut estimates of oil and gas reserves.

On May 3rd there was a special debate in the Ontario Legislature to consider Ontario's proposal for an alternate method of pricing domestic crude oil. The debate did not lead to a vote.

The Liberal Party's position was that the pricing proposal of Energy Minister Dennis Timbrell and the Ontario Government was irresponsible and misleading. It would not ensure adequate energy supply; failed to recognize that Canadian oil supplies will probably be depleted within a decade, at which time consumers and industries will have no alternative but to pay world prices for oil; and ignored the urgent need to encourage energy conservation, develop renewable energy sources and prepare our industry and consumers for the advent of world oil prices.

We felt that producing provinces' oil revenues should not be further increased, and that despite Mr. Timbrell's claim that "the needs of the oil producing provinces must be recognized", we are unwilling to pay these provinces higher prices.

The oil industry's claim for a larger return in order to finance exploration is weak, in our opinion. We agree with Mr. Timbrell that the oil industry should be guaranteed a higher price for new oil discoveries in order to motivate exploration. However, the cash flow requirements to finance exploration should be met in the traditional manner. If private investors are unwilling to assume the risks of further oil exploration, then surely government should not force consumers to do so.

On May 6th the provinces took their customary positions, with the producing provinces demanding a $2 per barrel increase and Ontario leading the opposition to price hikes and pushing their "blended" oil price proposal. The Federal-Provincial meeting, however, came to no agreement on oil and gas prices.

Federal Energy, Mines and Resources Minister Alastair Gillespie announced on May 18th that new Canadian oil prices with the agreement of the producing provinces would be: for gasoline $1.75 per barrel more by March 1977 - $9.05 a barrel on July 1 and $9.75 a barrel on January 1, although these price increases were not to come into effect for 60 days; for natural gas, the price rose by 15.5 cents per 1,000 cu. ft. July 1 and will increase by 10 cents to $1.50 per cubic ft. January 1. Of the oil price increase of $1.75 per barrel, the producing provinces will receive $1.00, Ottawa 50 cents and the oil companies 25 cents.

The final report of the Royal Commission on Petroleum Products Pricing was released on the 19th August. Its major conclusions were: (a) Ontario, as a major user of energy should use its influence to achieve a national oil policy; (b) the national framework for production of crude oil is unsatisfactory - "some problems are traceable to the familiar inconsistencies of objectives among the Canadian governments (provinces) and the consequent lack of measures they adopt"; (c) the report suggests Ontario should make plans to import foreign crude oil in case it becomes necessary or more economic and the province should work out how much it is prepared to spend on storage of domestic oil to ensure supply; (d) the report calls for a national research committee on energy to concentrate on developing new sources of energy supplies. This was suggested by Liberal Leader Stuart Smith in May.

See you next week.

1,677 fires

burn Ont. forests

A total of 1,677 forest fires, affecting 968,000 acres were reported across Canada during the month of July according to the Canadian Forestry Service.

The figures are compared with 4,341 fires affecting 1,514,000 acres during July 1975, and an average of 2,009 fires and 764,000 acres for the same month over the past decade.

For the whole period April 1st to July 31st, a total of 6,386 fires were reported this season, affecting 2,303,000 acres of forest. For the same period last year, the figures were 7,989 fires and 1,740,000 acres while the averages for the period over the past decade were 5,807 fires and 2,033,000 acres.

These statistics are compiled monthly from April to October by Environment Canada's Forest Fire Research Institute in Ottawa.

Regular eye checkups for children

How does your child see? You really can't say because you can't look through his eyes. And because he can't look through anyone else's eyes, he has no way of knowing if he is seeing as he should. Because he has nothing to compare to his own vision, a child assumes that the way he sees is the way everyone sees. For this reason, a child can have faulty vision and not complain about it. To be certain that complaints are non-existent and not just heard, the Ontario Association of Optometrists suggests annual, professional vision examinations for all school children.

snowmobiles other than those in use for superintendant purposes were banned from the Park. However, at that time, the Whitney trail was allowed to remain in use for snowmobilers subject to review.

Mr. Simpson said that the matter came up for review because the Ministry felt that an alternate route was now available around the Park. Closure of the Whitney trail was now possible, they thought, and would enable the objectives of the master plan to be more closely followed.

There was some disagreement expressed as to the amount of public opinion that was asked for from this region in the writing of the master plan. It was stated that snowmobilers have a right to use the Park as well, especially in this area, where Hydro operations have destroyed the natural environment.

Murray Fearrey, Dysart

Reeve, stressed the economic impact of anything that would detract from the snowmobiling in the area. "The Municipality cannot afford another loss like this," he said. "The next thing you fellows will do is put a gate on Highway 35 and say 'don't come to Haliburton County'."

Bernice Davis, a teacher at Archie Stouffer Public School asked Mr. Simpson to recognize that "a book cannot reason, just to quote a book is no better than the book itself. I would like to ask you to be above the book and make a decision as a human being."

Many people felt that the alternate trail proposed by the Ministry of Natural Resources was not a viable solution. It is a 70 mile trip, one way, from the area of Haliburton to Whitney on the alternate trail which skirts the southern boundaries of the Park. The Whitney trail which cuts directly through the Park reduces the trip to 30 miles. A safe comfortably day's journey would be 100 miles at the most. Haliburton County Snowmobile Association President Ken Fielding Jr., estimated. The closure of the Whitney trail would mean that travel to and from the two areas could not be done in one way.

Ken Fielding also noted that while the government is supporting the Association by means of promised funds from Wintario and L.I.P. they are refusing to grant the use of only 1.08 acres of the Hydro line.

Whereas the government provided funds for the completion of the Peterson trail, the alternate route around the Park, as far as Martin's Mill, last year, they will give no guarantee that money will be available this year for the maintenance of the trail.

The Haliburton County Snowmobile Association which hosted the meeting would like the Ministry to open and supervise the Whitney Trail. Mr. Fielding said, so that any complaints about snowmobilers in that area could be registered and dealt with by the Association. No complaints had been made by the Ministry during the years that the trail has been used by snowmobilers.

Walkers start the long trek to raise money in order to make repairs on the Monmouth Arena. The arena, in Wilberforce, is in danger of closing if enough money is not raised to make structural repairs. The walkathon, which was held Saturday, is among a number of money raising ventures to be held in Monmouth. There will be a door to door campaign to raise funds as well as an autumnfest, Oct. 9 and 10.

John Lute and Harry Henderson took top spot in a horseshoe contest at the home of Fred Palmer in West Guilford. Second place went to Lockie Morrison and Allan Morrison. Mr. Palmer reported that the tournament was well attended.

H·H·S·S· News

by Becky Davidson

H.H.S.S. is bursting with activities this Fall. The teachers are really great to devote all their endless energy and guidance for clubs and sports at H.H.S.S.

New staff this year are Mr. T.B. Mosgrove; Principal, Mr. Morissette; History, Mrs. McLean; French, Mrs. Wales; Geography, Mr. Dixon; math, Mr. Oakley; Commercial, and Mrs. Picard; Secretary.

Our football team looks very promising with over fifty members and Mr. Brohman, Mr. Colliver, and Mr. F. Wallace as coaches. Their first game was Thurs. Sept. 23 in Brock. Even though Brock won 14-7, our team put forth a great effort and we are proud of them.

Mr. Johnson and Mr. Brohman are coaching this year's golf team. Their first tournament will be at Lakefield Sept. 29.

Intramural sports are underway with soccer for girls and football for boys. These games all take place during activity periods which run from 3:05 to 3:35.

Mr. Oakley has started a team for cross-country running. Miss Keohler and Miss Johnson are busily coaching girl's basketball and field hockey.

A great variety of clubs have already started this year. The Glee Club, under the fine leadership of Mr. Gliddon, are practising for their first public performance Oct. 23 at the Honour Banquet and Awards Night. They will soon be working on this year's Gilbert and Sullivan production, "Rugdore".

Miss McKen is doing a great job with Seniro Band, Stage Band and Jazz Improvization Club. She will soon be undertaking Junior Bands as well.

Other clubs and organizations that have begun are as follows: Student's Council, Mr. Robinson; G.A.A.; Miss Keohler; Outers, Miss Keohler; Yearbook, Mr. Phillips; "Impetus" Newspaper, Mr. McCollom and Mr. Oakley; Photography, Mr. Mowat and Mr. Amorose; Trampoline, Mr. Robertson; Poetry, Mr. Penfold; Crafts, Mrs. Kenny and Ski Club, Mr. Ross. All of these clubs are a big part of our school as they involve students and teachers working together. This fosters a healthy atmosphere of friendliness which can be carried on into the classrooms.

This looks like another great year for H.H.S.S.

Region 6

U.C.W. rally held in Lochlin

Region 6 Rally of Lindsay Presbyterian U.C.W. was held at Lochlin United Church on Wed. Sept. 22 at 10 a.m. The item was: "But by Love serve one another," Gal. 5:13.

Quiet music was rendered by Mrs. Elgin Stouffer, Carnarvon, Organist for the day.

Mrs. Archie Brown, Lochlin, chairman of the Region opened the rally with words of welcome and we sang Hymn 536, "O, Father hear my morning prayer."

Rev. D. Nicholson, minister of Lochlin church brought greetings and words of encouragement. The offering was received and dedicated by Minden U.C.W.

Mrs. Lorne Coburn, Minden, invited the Rally to meet in their church next year.

The Roll Call was read by the Secretary Mrs. Robert Brohm, Haliburton. There were 56 ladies responding including 5 Presbyterian Officers. Very interesting reports of the year's work were given by representatives from Haliburton, Minden, Tory Hill, Lochlin, Carnarvon, Gooderham, Ingoldsby, Maple Lake and Wilberforce. The morning devotion was presented by Ingoldsby U.C.W. Mrs. Chas. Hicks read the Scripture from Isaiah 40:1-5 and 18-31. Mrs. George Hardy read a fine meditation written by Rabbi Rosenberg entitled "Lines from Life."

The speaker, in the person of Dr. Agnes Jamieson of Haliburton was ably introduced by Mrs. A. Rawlins, Carnarvon. Dr. Jamieson, has been a beloved doctor in Haliburton since 1945. The Doctor is respected by all who know her for her Christian dedication and loving service.

Dr. A. Jamieson, based her meditation on Isaiah Ch. 40: verse 31. "They who wait on the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings like eagles; they shall walk and not faint."

She said! Church is people at its best the Church is magnificent at the worst it is hypocritical. We must have renewal and reassessment in our lines. We must begin with ourselves. We are our own worst problem. Each individual must grow by listening to the still small voice with ears which are prepared to hear. We must have concern for the young, the aged, the forsaken, the poor and the lost. How much do we give to others? God still speaks to us, just as he did to Isaiah.

Mrs. Betty Exon, Lochlin expressed thanks for the inspiring address and Mrs. Keith Hill, Lochlin, presented a gift to Dr. Jamieson.

Mrs. Gordon Gilson, Pleasant Point, presented a large number of fine books available for our devotional reading and study in our U.C.W.'s.

A delicious luncheon was served by the Lochlin ladies.

The Rally was re-commenced at 1:15 with a fine Hymn Sing conducted by Miss Glenna Bechun, Haliburton. A prayer of thankfulness and guidance was expressed by Mrs. Gordon Barr, of Gooderham.

Mrs. Gordon Gilson, Pleasant Point, President of Lindsay Presbyterian U.C.W. brought greetings and read a message from Mrs. Marion Davies, President of Bay of Quinte Conference U.C.W. Mrs. Gilson announced that the next Executive meeting of Lindsay Presbyterian U.C.W. will commence at Fenelon Falls on Nov. 1 at 10 a.m.

Mrs. John Coburn, Fenelon Falls, Presbyterian Treasurer, gave the financial report and Mrs. C. Hadden, Sunderland read a letter sent to Mrs. Clayton Hewie, Cameron, concerning the task force on the use and abuse of alcohol.

Mrs. Sam Brandsma, Lindsay, reported highlights of the School for Leaders at Camp Quin Mo Lac.

An impressive Memorial Service was presented by Tory Hill U.C.W. Mrs. John Noble read the names of those ladies who have passed away since the last Rally. The 23rd Psalm was read in unison. Mrs. Don Finlay gave a fine tribute to their memory and read a beautiful poem, "The Master stood in his garden," followed by Prayer offered by Mrs. Noble.

The Closing Hymn was 311, "O, Love that will not let me go," and the closing prayer was given by Mrs. Thomas Corbett, Wilberforce.

The courtesy report was read in unison, thus closing a very profitable rally.

"As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in Him; rooted and built up in Him. Colossians 2:6-7"

Early in the history of the Church the Christians at Colosse were faced with the presence of false teachers in the assembly. They were disrupting the unity of the Body by a perverted teaching that denied the Deity of the Lord Jesus. Certain ones became bewildered and were in danger of departing from the purity of the faith. Error always creeps in among believers in subtle ways, it never comes out boldly with open intent and purpose.

It seems that the human mind is always entranced by "some new thing" and will follow ear-tinkling teaching because the thing has appeared to be popular and pleasing to the flesh. The great servant of the Lord was led by the Holy Spirit to confront the erroneous teaching by good, sound safeguards to true faith. It was thus that Paul gives to us the Colossian Epistle of the New Testament.

The one sure safeguard against false teaching as Colossians gives it, is to exalt Jesus Christ as God and Saviour, then to dwell upon the inextinguishable sources of His Deity. In other words, the "Person of Jesus" is our safe Refuge, not mere doctrines about Him. When a person knows Jesus Himself, that one is defended against all forms of error, for the truly born-again believer who thinks straight and scripturally about the Son of God will also be true to all lesser facts about Christian doctrine.

The personal consciousness of the Saviour abiding in a saved one's heart, leaves no room for any debate as to the reality of Heaven, or the prospect of a coming resurrection and the return of the Lord Jesus to judge the unsaved. This complete trust in the Saviour and His Word is linked with the phrase "so walk ye in Him."

The first step in a Christian "walk" is to have received Christ Jesus the Lord. That He must be received in this exacting manner is defined by the full title Name of Jehovah the Saviour namely, "Christ Jesus the Lord." This is what the Colossian Christians were taught and it is the "Jesus" that Paul always preached.

Church celebrating 75th year

The Lakeside Baptist Church is celebrating 75 years of work in Haliburton on Sunday. Special services are planned for the day beginning with Sunday Church School at 10 a.m. with Mr. Phil Bird as guest speaker. Mrs. Bird's Grandfather was one of the first deacons in the old Baptist Church. Mr. Bird still is quite active in Sunday School and teaches an adult Bible Class in his home Church.

The special anniversary speaker at both morning service at 11:15 a.m. and the evening service at 7:00 p.m. will be Rev. Donald Stratton, B.A., B.D., S.T.M., minister at Murray Street Baptist Church, Peterborough.

Mr. Stratton comes from a wide range of experience. He was born in Wallaceburg, Ontario and took his formal education there. He worked for his father on the H.E.P.C. of Ontario for 5 years before attending McMaster in 1955 and graduated in 1961 with his B.A. and B.D. degrees. He went to Andover Newton Theological School in Boston, Mass. for an S.T.M. in Pastoral Psychology in 1962. He spent a year as a resident chaplain at Gowanda State (Mental) Hospital in Upstate New York. He has held pastorates in Parry Sound and Dunstable, Mass. before coming to Peterborough in 1971. He has also held several positions on various Boards of the Baptist Convention. He is married and has a three year old daughter.

Special music is planned for both services. Mrs. Ruth Pogue will be singing in the morning and Karl and Sharon Upton in the evening. The Church is looking for good attendance at both services.

Furthermore, the Colossian Epistle is the answer to every modern heresy which tries to disrupt the Church to-day. Just how and what were then Colossian Christians taught? To them, "Jesus" was the express Image of the Living God. Col. 1:15. To them, He was in existence before there was a creation. (verse 15). To them, He was the Author and Creator of the physical universe (verse 16). To them, "Jesus" never relinquished His authority over the universe which he formed and brought into being (verse 17), but continues to hold all things together.

Not this alone, but the Colossian Christians knew that they were the "new creation" which had been formed by the mighty Hand of God and that the Lord Jesus was the undisputed Head of that creation which He called His Church (verse 18) Into that company the Lord Jesus invites all who would accept Him as Paul proclaimed Him.

To receive the forgiveness of sin from the Christ who took the sinner's place and be brought into the security of Eternity is far more than any cult or new doctrine can offer. Surely if Christ is received in this manner, why would anyone allow himself to be led astray by enticing words of uncertainty? This is why it is important to be "rooted and built up in Him."

Those who are built up in Him do not wander from theory to speculation, from cult to group, and are not the victims of heresy and false teachers. They are stable and unmovable and take the attitude of the one who said concerning Jesus, "if its new it isn't true and if its true it isn't new." All the necessary revelation concerning the Son was made by Jehovah God through the Holy Spirit in the pages of Gods Word. Why not accept that evangel that makes you acceptable to the Lord God? What more can any other system of thought offer you?

The Staff and Members of the Minden Public Library were very pleased to receive a copy of "Between Friends" courtesy of Richard Parisot. We are sure it will be widely read.
A very sincere Thank you.

We wish to express our gratitude to relatives, friends and neighbours for acts of kindness, floral arrangements and charitable donations received during our bereavement in the loss of a beloved wife, mother and grandmother Violet Harrison. Special thanks to Dr. Heyes of Haliburton, The Lochlin U.C.W. and all ladies for assistance, to Rev. Nicholson for his comforting message, the pallbearers, and to Gordon Monk, Funeral Director of John Welch and Son for his kind and understanding services.

IN MEMORIAM

WELCH - Douglas Gary,
October 12th, 1969.

Doug: This is Your Day of Memory
But Every Day will be
A Day when by your family
You are remembered lovingly.

No day has passed throughout the year
Without some thought that brings you near.
From us you went, We know not why
But this we know, you could not die.
Within our hearts you will remain
And someday we will all meet again.
Mom, Dad, Bob and Anne

STEVENSON - In loving memory of a dear dad and grandfather, Garnet, who passed away suddenly Sept. 23, 1975.

A golden heart stopped breathing
Two working hands at rest
God 'broke out' hearts to prove to us
He only takes the Best
The blow was hard the shock severe
We never thought his death so near
Only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.

Lovingly remembered by Lola, Garwood, Judy, Daughter-in-law Evelyn and granddaughter Sheila.

interest. The games do not require much dexterity and the exercise help to limber up muscles that have been allowed to more or less lie dormant. Greater interest is also being taken in handicrafts.

Mel Petrant has made a second trip to Sunnybrook Hospital in Toronto in connection with his artificial leg.

Mrs. Della Roberts, unfortunately, fell recently fracturing her hip. Mrs. Jane Rosenberg reports that she is doing well.

Life here goes on much the same as usual. Like everyone else, time and tide wait for no man. Like OLD MAN RIVER - IT JUST KEEPS ROLLING ALONG.

The increase in the number of residents makes more work, especially so for the Head Nurses who carry a fairly heavy load.

The Ontario Government is considering subsidizing Senior Citizens who are unable to care for themselves with a subsidy that would make it possible to hire help to carry on in their own homes rather than go to an institution. The big catch is where do you get this kind of help. If the Government is going to initiate such a plan, it should first train and secure persons for the job. They don't exist today in any numbers.

On Thursday we celebrated the birthday of the following residents, Mary Currah, Margaret Preston, Beatrice Gash, and May Ruttle. It was an informal party with a relaxed atmosphere. Marie Wallace was our pianist for the Sing-Song.

Our Devotional Period on Friday was led by the Rev. Don Nicholson of the United Church. His theme was "Jesus is the Rock of My Salvation". He spoke of the need to deal with loneliness with the strength that God provided. Our aim should be to live our lives as God would have us.

Latest arrivals are Steward Roberts - Haliburton, Beatrice Gash - Peterborough, Raymond Smith - Haliburton, and Lillie Robertson - Bancroft.

WE VISIT BLAGDON HILL

The prophets of doom, with one accord said it was going to rain and be cloudy, but Mother Nature had other ideas for our bus ride to Blagdon Hill near Maple Lake. Instead, the sun shone brightly. The owner, B. Napier Simpson, is a man of vision and his good wife a lovely hostess. The stone building looked like an imposing English Manor House in the midst of a wilderness, or made you think of a refreshing oasis in the heart of a desert. It was built by J. H. Billing, who erected the beautiful Anglican Stone Church on Maple Lake. Times were not good then and he had to witness six of his nearest families pull out for the West. After leaving Highway 519 we travelled 2½ miles through a dense forest and on a road as crooked as a cork-screw. On our arrival we were welcomed by Napier, Audrey, their sons and some other guests. Ron Curry was the moving spirit in working with Miriam Lewis on this trip. He gave us a little historic background before starting. His running account of the places of interest en-route was very enlightening. On our arrival back, he was suitably thanked. Miriam should be pleased with the results.

by Charles Plewman

Out Raffle of the Ragdoll was won by Fred Simmons of Gooderham.
